

The evening of the day your order ships, a FedEx or USPS tracking number link will be emailed to you which can be used to track the package progress. We ship Monday through Friday and strive to get most packages out the door within 24 hours. In some cases it may take an extra day for your package to ship. The FedEx tracking system provides good up to the minute information about your package status. The USPS tracking system is primitive in comparison to UPS or FedEx; for domestic shipments it is simply a delivery confirmation service, not a true tracking system with day-to-day status information.
